FIREMEN OFFER AID FOR WATER SYSTEM

City Council Asks For A Survey And Report

The committee named by the Nevada City Firemen's Delegates met last evening with the city council and offered the service of the fire department in any effort that may be made to improve the city's water system, repair or replace mains, and if necessary to enlarge reservoir capacity.

The committee, consisting of H. Penrose, Dick Goyne, R. L. P. Bigelow and R. Wright, was thanked by the city council for the active interest manafested by the fire department, and were asked to make a survey of the water system and report back to the council. The fire department will ascertain how much pipe will be necessary to replace the old redwood pipe and corroded iron pipe, and much new storage capacity the city needs.

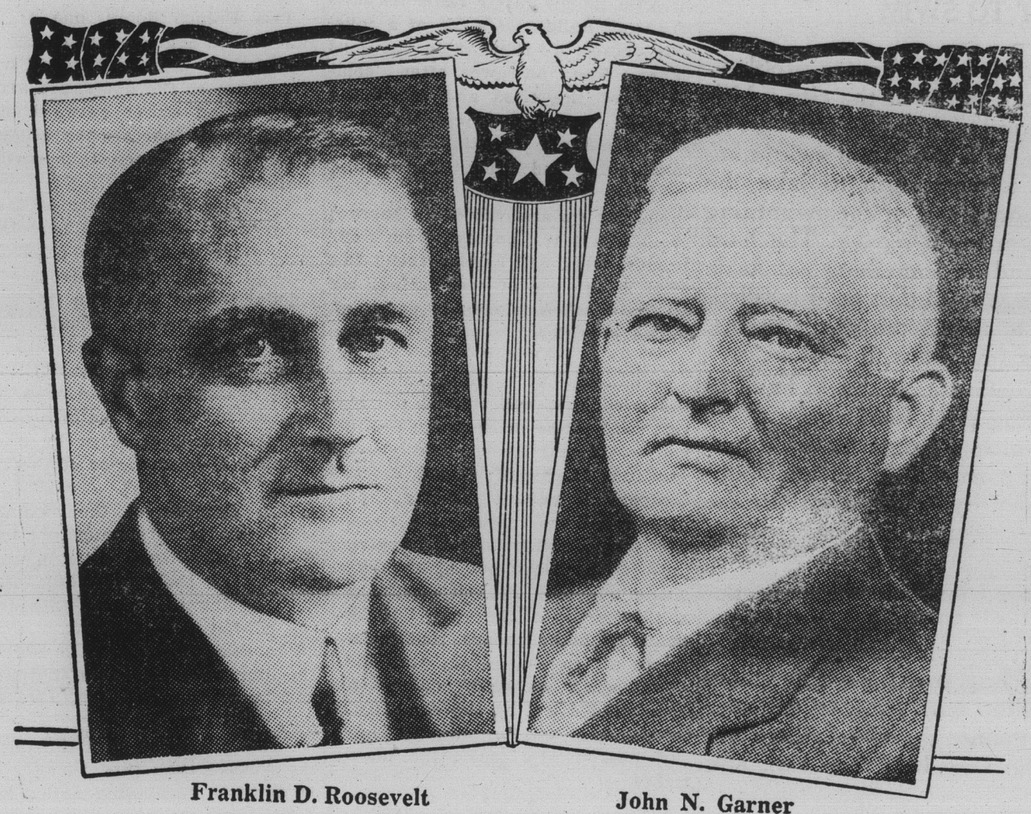
Mayor Bennetts stated that when this is done the city council will get an engineer's estimate of the cost of making these repairs and improvements.

It is then proposed to bring before the people all the facts and call for a vote of the people on the proposal to utilize the swimming pool fund of what now amounts to $11,000 for placing the city's water system in a condition to meet not only every day demands but such emergencies as may arise.

The fire department have gone on record as in favor of using the swimming pool fund to make the city's water system adequate to the city's needs.

During the council meeting last evening, Mayor R. J. Bennetts called attention to the thank-ye-marm left by the Pacific Gas & Electric Company across lower Broad street, when it extended its gas main during cold weather. The company will be requested to repair it.

The mayor also suggested that fence around the city library should be fixed by the library trustees who have funds that can be used for that purpose.



Franklin D. Roosevelt — John N. Garner

Tomorrow is March 4, 1933. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Governor of New York, becomes President of the United States, and John Garner, Speaker of the House, becomes Vice President. Despite efforts of the President-elect to make the inaugural ceremony tomorrow of the simplest and least costly type, the Democratic party leaders have made elaborate preparations for the one the greatest pageants in the history of presidential inaugurations. Possibly this decision may have a n auspicious significance. The American people for such a long time have suffered unusual privations that the sight of the new Chief Magistrate entering upon office with old-time pomp and gilded circumstance, may act as a heartener to the great majority of Americans who look upon the Roosevelt as the harbinger of a spring that is to end this prolonged winter of discontent, or as a Messiah come to lead America of the wilderness of the world depression.

CAMPTONVILLE MOURNS PASSING OF MISS GROVES

By ACTON M. CLEVELAND

CAMPTONVILLE, March. 2—The angel of grief hovered over this community Wednesday morning as Miss Margaret Groves, beloved citizen and Postmaster of this place, passed away following an illness of several months. Even though the end was not unexpected, it came as a severe blow to members of her family and to her multitude of friends in this section.

Mary Margaret Groves, one of the family of Mr. and Mrs. William Groves, a pioneer family in the community, was born here on March 3, 1871. She enjoyed her childhood here, being an ardent scholar in the local schools, and always took an active part in the social and welfare activities of the community, and was a favorite of the younger set with whom she grew up.

Twenty-seven years ago she was appointed Postmaster of the local office, which position she occupied up to the time of her death. Not only did she conduct the affairs of her office in a very courteous and pleasing manner to the patrons, but also in a very efficient way, and was considered an authority on subjects appertaining to the post office business and the mail. She has many times been highly complimented by various government inspectors for the manner in which the local office has been conducted. As a servant of the people during her term in office she was always ready to extend whatever accomodation possible, and in many instances granted people favors which ordinarily they could not obtain and by which little acts of kindness she is held in high esteem and gratitude by the many patrons of the office. Her record in office is one well worthy of imitation.

In the community everyone had a big place in their hearts for Mary Groves. She was of sterling character with a very congenial and lovable disposition, a character easy to make up with and a friend long to cherish. She had a home loving nature evident from the manner in which she kept her home, and was a lover of nature, each year having her surroundings blooming forth luxuriant flowers. In the loss of this esteemed member of this small community a loss is sustained which cannot be easily replaced, a vacancy has been created which can never again be filled, and although her familiar smiling face will be missed and absent, the sweet memories of her life will linger in the hearts of her many friends forever.

Deceased is survived by a sister, Miss Lydia O. Groves, of this place, a brother William Groves, of Aberdeen, Washington, a sister in law, Mrs. Olive Groves and a nephew, W. Groves, of this place, two nieces, Mrs. Mabel Cooper of Kelso, Washington and Mrs. Ella Cooper, of Aberden, Washington, a cousin H. G. Van Lenep of Auburn, and a cousin H. L. Brown of Marysville.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning on the birthday of the deceased, at eleven o'clock, from the family home on Spring street. Interment to be made in the family plot in the local Masonic cemetery. Local business places will be closed during the funeral. W. R. Jefford and Son Nevada City and Grass Valley Morticans, have charge of the funeral.

Mine Operators Planning Extensive Developments

J. W. Scott of Berkeley, who has a lease on a promising Scott's Flat gravel property, arrived a few days ago to look over conditions with a view to reopening.

C. E. Clarke, who is planning on opening the Relief Hill gravel mine, was in Nevada City this week. There is still lots of snow in his territory.

Progress is noted in all properties that have been in operation all winter.

Two truck loads of concentrates were taken from the Murchie mine Monday. Storm conditions hampered the work to some extent, but it is back to normal again.

The Hoge Development Company mine east of Nevada City is working over capacity at present on splendid ore.

A. W. Hoge has planned the reopening of the Lava Cap mine south of Nevada City, which will employ about 25 men.

H. R. Plate, manager of the Spring Hill Gold Mines Inc., states the main shaft has been let for 1,000 feet of development work easterly and westerly at the bottom of the shaft. This property started operations about eight months ago in one of the most promising of loations. It is situated just north of the Idaho Maryland mine with their general ledge formation.

The Idaho Maryland mine co. is constructing a large concrete compressor house which will complete its hoisting and transferring plants. When completed a 44 h. p. compressor with a capacity of 2,800 cubic feet of air will be installed .The plant is operating at full capacity on excellent ore from a half a dozen faces. This property possesses one of the largest ore reserves of any mine in Nevada county. Stock dividends of this company will be declared in April in San Francisco.

L. S. Wincapaw, manager of the Golden Center mine, owned and operated by the Cooley Butler interest, has sunk to the 1300 foot level or 180 feet below the former workings. The new work is in a deep winze, with further extensions planned. Owing to a heavy flow of underground water, the company is now installing a Diesel engine power plant at its surface workings.

The Stockton Hill mine below Grass Valley has been operating all winter with a small crew of six men.

The Empress mine at Newtown is making satisfactory progress. Plans are for a large new mill this spring.

SIERRA CO.

The Yellow Jacket Cons. gold mines have installed a powerful hoist four drill compressor and blacksmith shop at their Osceola mine in the Alleghany district. Plans are to start at once to sink the shaft several hundred feet.

The Alleghany Morning Glory company is about ready to start extensive development work according to officials. The mine is well equipped with modern machinery.

It is stated Guggenheim interests expect to employ about 50 men this season in hydraulic operations on their gravel holdings in the Port Wine district.

BLOOMFIELD ROAD OPENS

Automobile traffic between Nevada City and North Bloomfield was resumed Wednesday. No cars have been over the road since January 17. For five days two crews worked on the stretch of road between North Bloomfield and Grizzly Hill. The work was done under the direction of Supervisor E. B. Dudley and volunteers of men from the North Bloomfield community assembled under the leadership of A. P. Landsburg.

HONORED

HARY L. ENGLEBRIGHT OF NEVADA CITY, REPUBLICAN PARTY WHIP IN CONGRESS

Nevada City people will be rejoiced to learn that Harry L. Englebright, Congressman from this district, who is neighbor to everyone in this city, has been advanced to the high post party whip of the Republican minority in the House of Representatives. Upon him devolves those matters pertaining to party discipline. This is the first time that a man from West of the Rockies has been appointed to this important post, and indicates the high esteem in which Congressman Englebright stands with the members of his party in the house.

County Business Halts During 3-Day Holiday

All banks throughout the state will remain closed until Monday morning, following a proclamation issued by Governor James Rolph Jr., near midnight Wednesday. It is believed that the demand for the three-day "holiday" came as a result of difficulties experienced by banks in Los Angeles rather than in Northern California.

The mandatory order of the governor, followed a conference Wednesday in which Jared Sullivan, president of the California Bankers Association, Edwin Elliott, vice president of the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles, and chairman of the Bankers Association legislative and taxation committee, W. R. Williams vice president of the Bank of America at Los Angeles, Edward Rainey, state superintendent of banks, and members of his staff.

FEW OBSERVE "HOLIDAY"

Business in Nevada City was not perceptaby infuenced by the "holiday." People who expected to draw funds from the local bank, borrowed it from friends instead, and continued on their way buying and selling as though bank holidays of three day length were part of the accustomed scheme of things.

COUNTY OFFICERS MARK TIME

The county officials, under the law, must observe the same holidays as do the banks. Yesterday there was no session of the Superior Court and will not be, it was announced during the three-day holiday. County offices remained open in the court house but may transact no business. Teachers coming in for their warrants were told they must wait until the banks opened Monday.

From Sacramento dispatches state that the state legislature yesterday immediately turned its attention to te consideration of emergency statutes which undoubtedly will permit the retriction of withdrawals. Senator J. W. McKinley, Los Angeles ,chairman of the senate banking committee, prepared to call his committee together immediately.

Governor Rolph said the banking holiday was considerd advisable because "a financial unrest exists hroughout the United States," with resultant quiet but persistent withdrawals of money from the banks in California.

NATIONAL BANKS MAY OPEN

Whether national banks would test the power of the governor to declare a holiday, and remain open, was a matter left to the discreatin of the banks, but Edward Rainey, state banking superintendent, said he expected them to remain closed during the three-day period, together with the state banks.

"National banks," said Rainey, "never have tested the state's authority to enforce a bank holiday. Such national banks as want to do so may conceivably remain open."

In declaring a short banking holiday, California joins with approximately fifteen states of the East and Middle West which have talken similar steps to protest depositors during the period of financial stress.

GOVERNOR EXPLAINS

The governor explained he called the three-day bank holiday because bankers informed him other states were drawing gold and cash from California in larg eamounts, thus endangering te business sitution in this state.

The bill now being prepared will probably provide that banks can if they wish, restrict the amount depositors can withdraw during a certain period to 5 per cent of their total deposits.

SCHOOLS CLOSE TOO, WEBB RULES

Mrs. W. C. Austin, county superintendent of schools, was last evening notified by State Superintendent of Schools Verling Kersey that Attorney General Webb had ruied that the bank holiday of three days applied to the schools as well as the banks, and that the schools must close.

She at once informed the Nevada City board of school trustees of which J. F. Colley is president, and the board ordered schools closed today.

DOWNIEVILLE NUDIST HAS OFFICERS PUZZLED

Dementia Praecox Ostricheum, should perhaps be the name of the new kind of insanity discovered by Downieville officers when they took Tommy Lopez, of Calpine, into custody, for wearing no clothes. With a blanket wrapped around his head and the rest of him nude, like the "poor benighted Hindoo, who had to make his skin do," the officers found Lopez perfectly sane. But remove the blanket from around his head and immediately he suffered all the agonies of people whose nightmare is dreaming of themselves suddenly bereft of clothes. Clap the blanket on his head again and Lopez beomes sane. In this respect he is like the ostrich, which is traditionally supposed to believe himself concealed when his head is out of sight. Anyway the Downieville officers are puzzled.

THREE MAILS TO LEAVE DAILY

John J. Burke, chief mail clerk of San Francisco, visited Postmaster Phil Scadden this week and made arrangements to restore to all practical purposes, the schedule of arrivals and departures of mails formerly in effect. This will take out the early morning mail from Nevada City and get into San Francisco shortly after noon.

The schedule of arrivals and departures, as soon as this star route by stage is inaugurated, will be as follows:

TO SWIM OR NOT TO SWIM

To swim or not to swim, aye, there's a knotty problem. On the one hand the corroded water mains of the city which need replacements, on the other a fund of $10,000 (now $11,000) specially voted by the people for a municipal swimming pool many years ago. There is a temptation to take the line of least resistance, vote that money out of the swimming pool fund and into a fund for water main repairs. The hard way, is to view the swimming fund as something set aside for a special need and to leave it there until that need is filled, and then to levy a tax sufficient to repair the water mains. The latter course at the moment is fraught with difficulty.

Thus it is hard to face the situation as it would have to be faced if there were no swimming pool fund ready to be switched from one side of the municipal ledger to the other. This was very well brought out in a neat little editorial published in these columns last Monday by a bright girl in the Nevada City high school, under the student journalistic section known as "The Searchlight."

The city fathers really are placed much in the same position as the pater familias. The good dad with a large family does the very best he can when times are hard. If he needs must, he robs the baby's bank to buy bread for the whole family. Likewise if the times are too hard even to consider a special tax to repair the water mains, the city fathers are bound by their obligation to do the very best they can, and find the money where they can.

* * *

But in this case, differing somewhat from the pater familas just cited, the whole family must vote on the transfer of the swimming pool fund. And the people of this city have shown a decided disposition to keep the swimming pool fund intact, until it is spent for the purpose it was voted. The question then arises, have the people of Nevada City changed their minds? Are they willing, now that the pressing need for water main repairs has been demonstrated, to divert that long treasured $11,000 to any other purpose than for a municipal swimming pool? Only a vote can answer that.

But before we vote, would it not be a good idea for someone qualified therefor, to find out just how much it will cost to properly repair the water mains, and, if some of the reservoirs are to be enlarged, how much that will cost? Then when the cost is ascertained, find out how much per $100 of assessed value it will cost taxpayers in case the people again refuse to divert the swimming pool fund to any other purpose, and it is necessary to levy a special tax for the repairs.

Faced with the actual figures of what a special tax will mean to them, in case the proposal to use the swimming pool fund repairs is voted down, it is quite possible that the Nevada City folks will poll a majority for taking the money already on hand, rather than face the alternative of an additional tax. Or it may be that the sum required to repair the water mains will not be so large that it cannot be absorbed in the general tax rate.

At any rate before we vote let us have the facts, so that we may vote intelligently. How much will the water main repairs cost? How much if any, would it be necessary to increase the tax rate to repair them? Those two things should be known before diversion of the swimming pool fund is put up to a vote.

THE PAY STREAK

By H. M. L.

Well, if these bankers don't watch their step we shall learn to do without banks. Lots of people now do without butter, either for anatomical or economical reasons, and why not learn to do without banks. In this Nevada county of ours, where Los Angeles money rarely finds its way, the bank holiday is a bit of a joke. But here's a thought to give us pause. The borrower often complains of the close and forbidding scrutiny the banker gives his credit slip, sometimes shaking his head sorrowfully, and other times coming out with a very firm "No." Now supposing we are obliged to borrow, or attempt to borrow, from our friends, what will happen then? But what is the use of speculating. We all know when friendship ends and business begins.

* * *

Now without panning anybody, and with good will toward the biggest corporation in Northern California, we should lik eto ask a small question. The Pacific Gas & Electric Company is putting down gas pipe here and there through the streets, and the company is not repairing those slices taken out of the pavements as they should. Although, at this season of the year, it is difficult to make proper repairs, are we to all to bounce up, and down again, when we strike one of the chunk holes left by the company in the street, or will the company kindly and thoughtfully make the matter right?

* * *

Then again there's the board of library trustees with a special fund for keeping everything shipshape at one of the most popular institutions in this city, and they are letting one of the fences sag way of line. It is not a tidy proceeding. The fence should be fixed, straightened and repaired and a few more dollars put into circulation where they will do everybody ,as well as the fence, some good.

* * *

Now that we are finished with out tuts tuts, we may proceed to comment upon the new national administration that goes into office tomorrow.

We are just as hopeful that President Roosevelt assisted by that chubby Texan, John Nance Garner, with steer the old ship of state out of this slough of despond, as if we had not voted for Hoover and Curtis. We are perfectly well satisfied that the Democrats have got their chance. If they fail we have a feeling that neither the Domocratic or Republican party will be called into power again in our national capitol. It may indeed, be some kind of Technocrat-Socialist party, that will succeed to power. We, who have for so many years stoutly defended our personal liberties may, four years or soon er, have to give up a great many of them, for something that will, at the time, be considered for the "common good."

* * *

Or, and here is an alternative that nobody pays much attention to, we are such a sturdy sort of people, that we may recover without banks and without political parties. There is the story, you remember Mark Twain tells, of having fallen down a cliff ,and of having broken many of his bones. He called in this doctor and that, and took most everything in the drug store but still continued very sick. He finally called in a horse doctor, who inoculated him with the botts, the horse doctor's speciality, and then proceeded to cure him of the botts. The patient recovered, his bones knit together and he got up and walked. Sometimes we think this good old U. S. A. will get well despite the treatment it receives from its doctors.

IMPROVEMENT IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

Visitors and regular patrons of the Nevada City Free Library are expressing great pleasure in observing the recent improvement of the interior of the building by the installation of a partition a few feet from the front entrance doors thus shutting off the vestibule from the main floor of the reading room and its adjacent book-shelf section and the librarian's desk.

Two French doors, one on each side of the central part of the partition which is glass panelled in the same form as the doors, are arranged to swing either outward or inward, either door serving as an exit or as an entrance, thus obviating confusion.

This new arrangement of the interior will conserve the heat in the main floor and will be particularly enjoyed by the many patrons of this popular library where, in this special period of excessive leisure hours, many unemployed find solace in hours of reading, selecting their favorite newspaper to read or a favorite author, or by mentally contacting the world at large by reading magazines, scientific or of the travel order,

The children of the community who come in large numbers to the library enjoy their visits in no lesser degree than the adult visitor. This is due in a large measure to the cordial welcome that is extended to them as well as to adults by the librarian, Mrs. Iva Williamson and by her assistant, Miss Mary Nilan.

Also it is noted that the walls of the Nevada City Free Library there is hung no forbidding notice in big 2-inh black-faced capital letters the usual sign, "NO TALKING ALLOWED," but the patrons, both juveniles and adults show that innate consciousness of their duty to observe silence in order that other readers may enjoy their wealth of access to books and other publications so generously provided by the library and to its book shelves replete with works of the best authors and poets.

During the early days of the Nevada County Narrow Gauge R. R., John F. Kidder had bought an associate in earlier ventures by name of Mike Craig over to Grass Valley to be an engineer. And a mighty efficient engineer Mike continued to be. However, once in a while, when off duty, he fell off the water wagon. And when the report finally got around to Kidder "Mike's drunk again"— the boss would fly into a rage. His face would turn red and he'd bellow: "Send him in here! I'll fire the so-and-so! Mike waited outside, the minutes rolled by—fifteen minutes, thirty, forty, forty-five—and then the door would open. Out would come Kidder and Craig, with their arms around each other—crying as though their hearts were breaking. For many weeks, Mike would remain sober. His behavior would be exemplory and then the whole story would be repeated. But Kidder never fired him. And he never fired any of his men. He gave them the devil and swore at them—but if they got into any kind of trouble he stopped at nothing to get them out. The men were extremely loyal to Kidder and he returned that loyalty in full.

After he had been Superintendent several years, he sent back East for a cousin by name of Brown. E. H. Brown was a real Down-East batchelor. He slid over his "R"s and his "A"'s were broad enough to do honor to any Harvard graduate. His photograph, taken about the time he came to Grass Valley, could readily be taken for that of a president of the New York Central Railroad. The desk he used was made by the Wooten Desk Company, Indianapolis, in 1874. It is a beautiful piece of workmanship—burl walnut, arved and polished. When closed, the two massive doors were swung together and gave it somewhat the appearance of the closed console of a pipe organ. The left hand door contained a regulation Postal opening for drop letters—so letters might be safely deposited and privately kept during the absence of Mr. Brown. To open, the lock was first unlatched and then the doors were swung apart. The inside of each door presented row upon row of files and filing cabinets, in addition to which the left door contained the letter box.

In between was the complete desk with a sliding top. This ponderous piece of office equipment, weighing about 600 pounds, was an entire office in itself—there mail, several sets of files, stationery, supplies, books, ledgers, pencils, pens, and ink, together with sufficient deskroom, were all available without as much as turning in a swival chair This relic now reposes in the down town private office of J. Earl Taylor president of the Narrow Gauge. It no longer serves the railroad, nor does it assume any of the desk duties in connection with Taylor's Real Estate or Insurance business—but a neat locker, not mentioned above, still contains the same sort of liquid refreshments and accessories, for which it was designed by the manufacturer—refreshments and accessories, for which it was designed by the manufacturer—perhaps.

Half a century ago, the Sacramento division of the Southern Pacific was under the superintendancy of Jack Wright. The latter at one time loaded a number of his friends and their ladies into his private car at Sacramento and took them to Colfax. There the private car was detached from the east-bound train and the party stepped across the station platform to a special train of the Narrow Gauge. E. H. Brown took the tourists in charge and soon the Narrow Gauge was puffing down the track toward Bear River Bridge. It was still in the early days of the line and Chinese section crews, recruited from the orientals who had helped build the Central Pacific and the Narrow Gauge, kept the track in order.

The road still followed the original line across Bear River and the Greenhorn and past the You Bet station. Near You Bet was a canyou known as Echo Canyon because of the faithfulness with which entire sentences were repeated from the opposite canyon walls. Brown had taken charge of the entire Sacramento Party and was explaining the railroad and the country to them. Telling them about the peculiarities of Echo Canyon he had the engineer stop the train at that point. The men and their ladies gathered about him as he raised his hands to his mouth and called out across the canyon: "What aah you doing ovah theah!" Back floated the high piping voice of a startled heathen Chinaman—tell in three or four short lucid words what he was about and adding "Me clome back pletty quick. boss!" Without a word, Brown turned on his heels and secluded himself in the baggage compartment for the balance of the trip.

It was about 1900 that the old bridge over Bear River burned. Residents of Chicago Park had heard the crash and got word in to Kidder at Grass Valley. The latter's detailed knowledge of his railroad can be imagined when it is recorded that he sat down and from memory made up a list of timbers and lumber necessary for rebuilding. The list was wired to the Port Costs Lumber Company; another wire asked Jack Wright for a special train—and at 3 a. m. the following day the lumber and timber were being unloaded at Colfax.

Action by the legislature in calling a state convention to permit a vote on the repeal of the 18th amendment will be asked at once by Governor Rolph. Following passage of the repealer by congress, the Governor said he would call it to the attention of California lawmakers as soon as possible.

The state department of agriculture has asked the federal government to take steps to stop the importation of cattle from Mexico to California. The request was made as the result of an outbreak of scabies in the San Joaquin valley which the department said was traceable to shipments from Mexico.

Eggs are passing for currency in some p arts of Russia. Technocracy's scheme to use eggs for money may be getting warm.

For an ardent stamp collector, President-elect Roosevelt seems happily situated, as he is understood to be deluged with job applications form the most obscure places.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler points out that the average American is not tax conscious. Moreover, if he shows signs of coming to, he is struck with another.

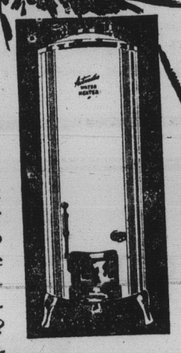
"... let's buy one of the new AUTOMATIC WATER HEATERS Mr. Boss" ....

"A grand idea," replies Mr. Boss, "the old heater is too slow. Funny we put up with it so long."

"Just the thing too," adds Mrs. Boss, "to get the dishes and the washing done quicker."

"We'll call it our Spring Investment," adds Mr. Boss with finality.



HAS your present water heater slowed down with old age and become wasteful? Does more heat from your water heater and tank go toward heating the kitchen and basement than goes toward heating water? Perhaps a new Automatic Water Heater would actually save you money.

An Automatic heats water cheaper per gallon than any other method of heating water in the home. Just as new gas ranges with insulated ovens and automatic heat control are better built, are cheaper to operate, do the job they were made for better, so too, is the new Automatic Water Heater better in all respects. Investigate the new Automatic Water Heaters carefully. Consider their construction. The outer casing is a steel shell, enamelled in kitchen colors, and smooth as porcelain. Then comes a thick blanket of insulating wool completely covering the water storage tank within. At the base of the storage tank is the automatically controlled gas burner. It starts itself. It stops itself. The insulated tank keeps the hot water stored ready for instant service at the turn of a faucet.

The Automatic costs 50% less than water heaters rendering similar service only a few years ago. Right now, too, you can purchase an Automatic for as little as $4.85 down and as little as $3.85 a month. This is for complete installation. Investigate this low-cost, hot water service for your home today.

L. B. Sylvia Tells Why —How Milk War Started

Declaring that the so-called "milk war" in Nevada county is really no war at all but an attempt on the part of certain dairymen to defeat the introduction into this county of pasteurized milk, L. B. Sylvia, one of the owners of the Chicago Park dairy, yesterday gave what he regards as the "inside" story of the agitation that is now distrubing the dairymen of this county.

"No milk from outside the county has been introduced in either Grass Valley or Nevada City," Sylvia stated. "A hue and cry has been raised against outside milk, but the real fight is against pasteurized milk, which my partner, A. Locatelli, and myself are now selling.

"We have purchased the necessary equipment to provide such of our customers as demand it, with pasteurized milk. Many women with young children prefer pasteurized milk, and some physicians prescribe it for children.

"Our efforts to provide our customers with pasteurized milk have disturbed our competitors in this field. They have charged that milk from outside of the county has been shipped in. But their real grievance is our introduction of pasteurized milk.

"Now, while it is true that pasteurization of milk permits sales of a poorer grade of milk, with a higher bacteria count, than is case with raw milk, my partner and I are selling the same high grade of milk, whether raw or pasteurized. In other words, the raw milk that goes into our delivery bottles and the raw milk that is pasteurized and then bottled, are exactly the same. Both come from our herd of T. B. tested cows, and from our clean milking sheds, which are regularly inspected by the state sanitary inspector and which regularly receive his O. K.

"Pasteurized milk is a comparatively new thing in Nevada county, but there has long been a demand for it. My partner and I have decided that it is worth while to try to supply that demand. And that is all there is to this "milk war."

Seven simple rules for the care of milk in warm weather.

1 Place in refrigerator right at once. Set either next to ice or on lowest shelf.

2 Keep covered ALL THE TIME If you lose the cap, cover bottle with inverted tumbler or other suitable cover.

3 Keep milk away from foods of pronounced odor. Place them on the top shelf of the refrigerator.

4 Leave milk in original bottle as long as possible.

5 Pour from bottle only milk enough for immediate use. Then cover the bottle.

6 Do not mix cold milk with warm milk.

7 If ice is not available, wrap the milk bottle in a wet cloth and stand in a shallow dish of water by an open window out of the sun. Evaporation of water will cool the milk.

8 Don't pour milk into an open receptacle and let it stand in a warm room or so-called cooler. Keep milk clean well covered and cool.

BILL WOULD EXEMPT AUTO FROM SEIZURE

SACRAMENTO, March 2,(UP)—Every man has a right to keep some means of transportation..

This fact was recognized by law in California back in 1872 when the statute providing a list of property exempt from execution and attachment was passed.

Senator Charles King, Hanford, believes thhis old law should be modernized, and has introduced a bill which would exempt from execution or attachment "one motor vehicle not exceeding in value five hundred dollars.

....Should the measure pass the legislature, it would exempt a large per centage of the 4,078 motor vehicles in Nevada county, it is estimated.

Without the amendment, the law mentions no such thing as an automobile.

In the case of the farmers, for instance, the law now provides exemption for attachment from "two oxen or two horses or two mules, and their harness, one cart or buggy and two wagons, and food for such oxen, horses or mules for one month.

The proper number of horeses, mules or oxen also was exempt "by the use of which draymen, etc." earn their living and as well as "one horse with vehicle and harness or other equipments used by a physician or surgeon, constable or minister of the gospel in the legitimate practice of his profession or business; with food for such horses, oxen or mules for one month."

FARM INTERESTS WARY OF REPEAL BILLS PENDING

By RALPH H. TAYLOR
(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Legislative Committee of California)

Scores of farm bills, designed to remedy or alleviate "depression ills" of California's farming industry, together with a flood of "repeal acts," aimed at the elimination of state support for present agricultural services of questioned necessity, are slated for preliminary committee hearings in the near future.

With the Legislature well launched on the second half of its biennial session, both the Senate and Assembly committees on agriculture, as well as the important livestock and dairies committee of the lower house, are clearing the decks for careful study of the large crop of farm measures.

An outgrowth of the legislative drive for rigid economy in state expenditures, brought about by depleted revenues and a bankrupt general fund, the "repeal acts" will require the most careful scrutiny to insure sound economy, through the elimination of non-essentials, without crippling services of prime importance to agriculture.

NO NEW TAXES WANTED

California farmers, recognizing the dilemma of te state government and anxious to avert the imposition of new taxes, must approach the problem unselfishly. Unnecessary services must go and clumsy duplication of services must be eliminated. On the other hand, the agricultural committees of the two houses must guard against foolish economies which might cost the farming industry and the state as a whole many millions of dollars through the breakdown of essential quarantine, standardization and inspection services.

Some of the "repeal acts" which will soon come up before committees for study and analysis include measures to repeal warehouse, apiary, cotton a,nd deciduous fruit dealer inspection service, and seed standardization inspection.

Another bill eliminates state support for the State Fair, requiring that it be discontinued or made self-supporting.

Still another act would repeal the Department of Agriculture's field crop inspection service.

In each instance, the fate of these services should rest on the question: "Is the service essential?"

FARM LEGISLATION PENDING

In the scope of general farm legislation, much of which is an attempt to meet problems either caused or intensified by th eworld-wide economic upheaval, the following measures are of interest:

S. B. 57, by Senator Ralph Swing, San Bernardino; Permits the slaughter and sale of meat by the farmer

S. B. 81, by Senator Frank W. Mixter, Exeter; Requires brokers and commission merchants to pay a $50 fee instead of $25, but eliminates the present bond requirement. Agents would pay $10.

S. B. 101, by Senator Nelson T. Edwards, Orange, Specifies standards for citrus products must obtain at time of picking, not later. Not more than 15 per cent of a lot could be damaged by freezing.

S. B. 111, by Senator Carles Deuel Chico; Defines olive trade terms and provides the count per pound must be carried on all olive labels, with not more than 5 per cent average variation.

S. B. 119, by Senator James M. Allen, Yreka; A humane measure against keeping attle more than 28 consecutive hours in a truck or trailer; thereafter five consecutive hours of feed and rest must be provided. Railroads are already regulated by a similar measure.

S. B. 126, by Senator Harold J Powers, Eagleville; Permits establishment of grazing rights on public lands by continuous use for five years. Trespass by other cattlemen would be punishable by six months in jail or a $500 fine.

S. B. 177, by Senators Herbert W. Slater, Santa Rosa, and W. E. Harper, San Diego, Prohibits the sale in California, as is now true of the manufacture, of all fods using Oriental egg products, unless so stamped. Merchants selling such products in bulk would be required to post signs advertising it.

A. B. 712, by Assemblyman James E. Thorp, Lockeford, and F. C. Clowdsley, Stockton; Sets up cream standards in line with milk standards.

A. B. 763, by Assemblyman Austin L. Tournoux, Los Angeles; Eliminates duplication of meat inspetion by federal state and city inspectors. Inspection by any one agency would be sufficient.

Service Comes First

Without discounting the importance of the funeral director's functions as a seller of merchandise and as a skilled scientific worker, we believe that the keystone of our profession is sympathetic, personal service to the bereaved family. In all our relations with our patrons we remember that our first duty is to lighten, so far as lies within our power, the burden of those who mourn.

LENTEN SERVICE AT ST. CANICE CHURCH

LITURGY CHAT

On March 1, we begin the important season of Lent. The word comes from an old English word, lenten, meaning spring—the season of Lent coinciding with the season of spring. Lent itself is a time of preparation for the Christian Pasch. By this is meant the remembrance of the Passion, Death and Resurrection of our Savior. Originally, this preparation for the Pasch lasted forty days; it began on the first Sunday in Lent and ended on Good Friday, the beginning of the Pasch.

Every Wednesday and Friday up to Holy Week, there will be services at 7 p. m. On Wednesday, Rosary, sermon and benediction. On Fridays the stations of the Cross and Benediction.

Members of other creeds who may have no services in their own church on the above mentioned evenings will be welcome if they desire, to attend St. Canice church.

There may be a time for all things but the wise man tackles only one thing at a time.
